

18 Mar 2011 Update on transitional measure: EU ETS registries of Finland, Romania, Slovenia and Sweden to resume operations on 21 March

The national emissions registries of Finland, Romania, Slovenia and Sweden will resume normal operations on 21 March 2011 at 8 am CET.

This decision follows completion by the Commission of its review of reports from the four countries' national registries on the adequacy of their security measures. With these reports, the four countries have given reasonable assurances that the minimum security requirements are in place.

This will bring to 19 the number of registries that will have resumed normal operations following the suspension from 19 January 2011 of transactions, except for the allocation and surrender of allowances, in all EU ETS national registries due to cases of cyber theft.

The Commission will continue to provide updates on the situation and will announce the planned re-activation of each national registry 24 hours in advance.
