

Dear Sirs

I'm against auction time profile for the EU Emissions Trading System.

It's not fair to change rules of a treaty during it lasts. It's against the law. Poland economy is based on coal which according to ETS is the worst fuel in the mean of to the value of CO2 emission. Higher prices of EU ETS units will cause hundred of thousands of people loose their work because their factories would be closed and moved to countries not belonging to ETS. On the other hand there are no real proofs for CO2 produced in factories influence on climate changes. Please remember that ETS unit price is the same in all countries belonging to this system, while wages/GCP per capita in Poland are one of the smallest in EU which simply means we are poor country. Please take care about it.

Best Regards
