

Status table on transitional free allocation to power generators for 2013

Updated on 28 October 2014*

Member State	Maximum number of free allowances pursuant to Article 10c (2013)	Number of free allowances pursuant to Article 10c requested by MS (2013)	Submission Date	European Commission Decision Date	Allocation Date
Bulgaria	13.542.000	11.009.416	28 February 2014	23 April 2014	24 April 2014
Cyprus	2.519.077	2.519.077	24 February 2014	08 April 2014	09 April 2014
Czech Republic	26.916.667	25.285.353	11 December 2013	28 January 2014	29 January 2014
Estonia	5.288.827	5.135.166	31 January 2014	08 April 2014	09 April 2014
Hungary	7.047.255	7.047.255	18 October 2013	22 November 2013	26 November 2013
Lithuania	582.373	322.449	26 August 2014	28 October 2014	29 October 2014
Poland	77.816.756	65.992.703	04 February 2014	08 April 2014	09 April 2014
Romania	17.852.479	15.748.011	19 March 2014	08 April 2014	09 April 2014

* An update will be made available when new information from Member States is available. Changes in the table compared to the last update are highlighted in blue.

** Earliest date that allocation is possible, the final date is determined by the Member State.

Context:

Eight Member States have made use of the derogation from full auctioning for the modernisation of the power sector and are allowed to allocate free allowances on this basis for a transitional period ending in 2019.

Before such allocations can take place, Member States must submit a corresponding NAT. According to the national rules for the implementation of the derogation, this may in some cases require reporting on whether investments set out in a national plan and justifying the allocation have actually been carried out.

Member States may also allocate less allowances than the maximum allowed pursuant to their applications and approved by the respective Commission decisions. Depending on the relevant provisions in each of the eight Member States, the difference may be allocated for free in the coming year(s). All allowances not allocated for free will be auctioned.