Moderator:

The EU and its member states are a global leader in climate finance, with 14,5 billion Euro delivered in 2014, commitments to upscale until 2020, and a further rise of official development assistance until 2030. In this flagship event, high-level representatives from the EU and major international partners will inform about new developments in the international climate finance landscape, and will engage with the audience on the steps to take post-Paris.
